中考英语完形填空：雨天的球赛

完形填空原文

Our school basketball team had been practicing for months. We finally made it to the city finals. Everyone was excited, but on the day of the big game, dark clouds covered the sky and heavy rain started to 1.

The game was held at an outdoor court. The referee said the match would go on as planned. Some of my teammates looked 2 — the wet ground was slippery, and it was hard to see clearly in the rain.

"We can't play in this weather!" Wang Hao, our tallest player, said. "We'll definitely 3."

Coach Zhang gathered us together. "Listen," he said calmly. "The rain falls on both teams 4. It's the same difficulty for everyone. The team that adjusts faster will win."

The game started. In the first half, we played terribly. The ball kept 5 out of our hands. The other team scored again and again. By halftime, we were behind by twelve points.

During the break, Coach Zhang didn't 6 at us. Instead, he said, "Forget the score. Focus on one thing: slow down. In the rain, you need to hold the ball tighter and pass more carefully."

We went back on the court with a new plan. We slowed our pace, made shorter passes, and stayed 7 to each other. Slowly, we started to catch up. With two minutes left, we were only behind by two points.

In the last thirty seconds, I got the ball. The rain was pouring down my face, and I could 8 see the basket. But I remembered what Coach said: slow down. I took a deep breath, aimed carefully, and threw the ball. It went in! The game was 9!

We didn't actually win — the game ended in a tie and we lost in overtime. But none of us felt sad. We had learned something more important than 10: when life gives you rain, don't complain. Just learn to play in it.
