中考英语完形填空：停电夜的蜡烛

完形填空原文

It was a Friday evening. I was doing my homework when suddenly all the lights went out. The whole neighborhood was in 1. My mom brought out candles and placed them on the table.

"We haven't had a power outage in years," she said. "Maybe it's a good chance to talk."

At first I thought it would be boring. Without the TV or computer, what could we do? But Mom had a different 2. She started telling stories about her childhood — how she and her sisters used to play hide-and-seek in the dark, and how her father would tell ghost stories by candlelight.

I had never heard these stories before. Mom was always busy. We usually ate dinner in 3 while watching our phones. That night, with only candlelight, everything felt different. We could see each other's faces clearly. We could hear each other without any 4.

Dad joined us too. He told us about his first job and how he met Mom. I learned that they had known each other since high school. "We used to write letters," Mom said with a smile. "No phones, no internet. Just pen and paper."

I realized how much I had been 5. I thought I knew my parents, but I didn't. I knew their rules and their worries, but not their stories. That candlelit night 6 me that the best moments sometimes happen when we slow down and really listen.

When the power came back two hours later, I felt a little 7. The bright lights made everything ordinary again. But I had learned something important: we don't always need more — sometimes we need less. Less noise, less speed, less distraction. A simple 8 can bring a family together in a way that nothing else can.

The next evening, I suggested we have a "no-screen hour" before dinner. Mom and Dad agreed. We didn't need a power outage to 9 that. We could choose to create those moments ourselves. Sometimes the darkness doesn't hide things — it helps us see what truly 10.
