中考英语完形填空：操场边的秋千

完形填空原文

There is an old swing near our school playground. The chains are a little rusty, but it still works. During break time, many students 1 to play on it. I used to be one of them. But when I entered Grade 9, I became too busy. I had no time for the swing. I walked past it every day but never 2.

One afternoon, I was feeling stressed about a math test. I had studied for hours but still couldn't understand some problems. I needed a 3. I walked to the playground and sat on the swing. I didn't swing high — I just sat there gently. The wind blew on my face. I looked at the sky. Slowly, I began to feel 4.

That day I realized something. The swing was still there, waiting. It didn't care if I was a Grade 7 kid or a Grade 9 student. It didn't 5 if I had good grades or bad grades. It was just there, quiet and patient. Sometimes we need such a place — a place where we can 6 our worries and just be ourselves.

Now I visit the swing when I feel tired or worried. I don't swing as high as I did when I was younger. But that's fine. The swing teaches me that it's okay to 7. We don't always have to run fast or work hard. Sometimes slowing down helps us see things more clearly.

The swing has been there for many years. Maybe it will still be there when I 8 school. I hope younger students will find it too — a simple place where they can rest, think, and remember that life is not only about exams. It's also about small 9 like sitting on an old swing and feeling the wind.

I am grateful for that old swing. In a world full of homework and stress, it offers me a moment of 10. That is more valuable than I once thought.
