中考英语完形填空：教室窗台上的绿植

完形填空原文

There were three small plants on the windowsill of our classroom. Our teacher gave them to us at the beginning of the term and asked us to 1 care of them. Li Ming was in charge of watering them. Every Monday morning, he would bring a bottle of water and 2 each plant gently. The plants grew day by day, and their green leaves made our classroom feel more lively.

One day, Li Ming found that one plant's leaves were turning yellow. He felt very 3. "What's wrong with it?" he asked our teacher. The teacher smiled and said, "Plants need sunlight. This one is behind the others, so it doesn't get enough light. Let's move it to a 4 place." Li Ming did so, and in a few weeks, the plant became green again. He learned that every living thing needs the right 5 to grow well.

During the exam week, we were all busy and tired. But when we looked at those plants, we felt a little better. They reminded us that with patience and care, we could 6 our goals. The plants were like our classmates—we helped each other and grew together.

At the end of the term, our teacher said, "These plants have grown because of your hard work. Remember, the best way to learn is to 7 responsibility." We all nodded. Those small plants on the windowsill had taught us more than we had expected. They taught us about 8, care, and working together. Sometimes the smallest things can bring the greatest 9. We would take good care of them in the next term and let them 10 with us.
