中考英语完形填空：午休时的教室窗帘

完形填空原文

Every noon after lunch, our class has a break. The classroom becomes quiet, and someone always draws the curtains to 1 the bright sunlight. For thirty minutes, we rest our heads on the desks and try to sleep. To me, those curtains have become a 2 of peace and rest.

When I first came to this school, I could not fall asleep during the noon break. The light was too strong, and I felt 3. One day, my deskmate saw me covering my eyes with my hands. Without saying a word, she stood up and drew the curtains. The room became darker and softer. "Try again," she said. I closed my eyes and finally had a good rest. That small 4 made me realize that kindness often comes in simple ways.

Since then, I have learned to help others in the same way. When I arrive at the classroom early, I draw the curtains 5 so that everyone can rest comfortably. When someone is feeling tired, I offer to share my 6 or water. These small acts may seem 7, but they can make a big difference to someone's day.

The curtains also remind me of the importance of rest. We study hard every day, but our bodies and minds need time to 8. Just as the curtains block the light and create a peaceful space, we should also learn to create moments of calm in our busy lives. Rest is not lazy — it helps us do better later.

I will graduate soon. When I think of my junior high years, I will remember the quiet noon breaks, the soft light through the curtains, and the friends who 9 each other in small ways. These memories will stay with me forever, like the gentle touch of those classroom curtains on a warm afternoon. They taught me that the best things in life are often 10 and kind.
