中考英语完形填空：校门口的公交站

完形填空原文

There is a bus stop right outside our school gate. Every afternoon after school, many students wait there for the bus. I used to think it was just a place to stand and wait. But over time, I have discovered that this small bus stop holds many 1 memories for me.

Last year, I had a difficult time with my math. I often felt 2 and did not want to talk to anyone. One rainy evening, I stood alone at the bus stop when my classmate Xiaoming came over. He didn't ask about my grades. Instead, he shared his own story of 3 math problems when he was in Grade 7. "You will get through it," he said. "I believe in you." Those simple words made me feel much better.

Since then, the bus stop has become a special place where we 4 our day. We talk about homework, sports, and sometimes our dreams for the future. When the bus arrives, we get on together and find seats side by side. The 5 ride home feels shorter when we have friends to talk to.

I have also met students from other classes at the bus stop. We may not know each other's names at first, but a smile or a "Hello" can 6 a new friendship. One boy I met there is now one of my best friends. We both love reading, and we often 7 books at the bus stop while waiting.

The bus stop has taught me something important: the best moments in life often happen in ordinary places. We don't need to go somewhere special to find warmth and 8. Sometimes, all we need is to slow down, look around, and be 9 to the people around us. I hope that wherever life takes me, I will always remember to 10 those simple moments of connection.
