中考英语完形填空：公园观鸟之旅

完形填空原文

Last Sunday, my father took me to the city park for bird watching. I had never done this before, so I was full of 1. We woke up early because birds are most active in the morning. My father brought a pair of binoculars and a small notebook. "We will 2 what we see," he said.

When we arrived at the park, it was still quiet. The sun was just rising, and the grass was wet with dew. We walked slowly along the path and listened 3. Suddenly, my father pointed to a tree. "Look! A sparrow!" he whispered. I raised the binoculars and saw a small brown bird. It was hopping from branch to branch. I felt so 4 that I could see it so clearly.

We saw many different birds that morning—robins, magpies, and even a woodpecker. My father knew the names of all of them. He had learned about birds when he was young. "Nature has so much to 5 us," he said. "We just need to slow down and look." I wrote down each bird in my notebook. The experience made me 6 that there was a whole world of life around us that I had never noticed before.

By noon, we had seen over ten kinds of birds. My legs were a little tired from walking, but I did not mind. The fresh air and the beauty of nature made me forget my 7. On our way home, my father and I talked about what we had seen. I realized that spending time with him in nature was 8 better than staying at home playing games. We promised to come back next month. I can't 9 for our next bird-watching trip. This adventure has given me a new hobby and a deeper 10 with my father.
