中考英语完形填空：写给朋友的一封信

完形填空原文

Dear Mike,

How are you? I hope everything is going well. I am writing this letter to tell you about something important. Last week, I had a 1 day. Everything seemed to go wrong. I failed my math test, lost my favorite pen, and had a quarrel with my sister. I felt so upset that I didn't want to talk to anyone.

That evening, I sat in my room and 2 of you. We used to share everything when we were in the same school. You always listened to me and made me laugh. Now you have moved to another city, and I 3 you a lot. I decided to pick up my pen and write you a letter. It felt strange at first because we usually chat online. But as I wrote, I found that putting my feelings into words 4 me feel better. I could say things that were hard to say face to face.

In the letter, I told you about my bad day and my worries. I also wrote about the good things, like the new book I am reading and the basketball game I won. Writing to you 5 me remember that life has both ups and downs. One bad day does not mean the whole week will be bad. I put the letter in an envelope and sent it. A few days later, I received your reply. You said you had similar days too, and you encouraged me to stay 6. Your words meant a lot to me.

Now I understand why people still write letters. Emails and messages are quick, but a handwritten letter carries more 7. When someone takes the time to write and mail a letter, it shows they really care. I have decided to write more letters to people I 8, especially to my grandparents who don't use the internet. I think they will be happy to 9 news from me in this old-fashioned way.

Please write back when you have time. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best 10, Tom
