中考英语完形填空：学做饭

完形填空原文

During the summer holiday, I decided to learn how to cook. My parents were both busy with work, and I thought it would be nice if I could 1 dinner for the family.

I started with something simple — fried eggs. My mum showed me how to do it step by step. First, I put some oil in the pan and waited until it was 2. Then I broke an egg into the pan. It made a loud sound, and I jumped back in fear. My mum laughed and said, "Don't worry. Just be 3 and keep going." I tried again and this time the egg looked much better.

Day by day, I learned to cook more dishes. I could make tomato and egg soup, fried rice, and even dumplings. Of course, I also made many 4. Once I put too much salt in the soup and nobody could drink it. Another time I forgot to turn off the stove and the vegetables were completely 5. But I did not give up. Each failure taught me something new.

One evening, I decided to cook a full meal for my family as a 6. I spent the whole afternoon in the kitchen. I made three dishes and a soup. When my parents came home and saw the food on the table, they could not 7 their eyes. "Did you really make all of this?" my dad asked. I nodded proudly.

We sat down together and enjoyed the meal. My mum said the dishes were 8 and she was very proud of me. My dad said I was even better than him in the kitchen. I knew they were being kind, but their words made me feel 9.

Learning to cook was not easy, but it was worth it. Now I understand that cooking is not just about food — it is also a way to show 10 to the people you care about.
