参考范文

A Person Who Has Influenced Me

If someone asked me who has influenced me the most, I would say without hesitation: my grandfather. He is a retired village teacher, now in his seventies, with silver hair and gentle eyes that always seem to carry a story.

What impressed me most about my grandfather is his love for learning. Every morning, he wakes up at five and reads for two hours — sometimes Chinese poetry, sometimes world history. His desk is always covered with books and handwritten notes. "The day you stop learning is the day you stop living," he often tells me. Even more remarkably, he still teaches children in the village every weekend — completely for free. Some of his former students have become doctors, teachers, and engineers, and they all say Grandpa changed their lives.

From my grandfather, I've learned two priceless lessons: that learning never has an age limit, and that the truest happiness comes from lighting up someone else's path. He may be an ordinary old man in a small village, but in my heart, he is extraordinary.

全文翻译

影响我最深的一个人

如果有人问我谁对我的影响最大，我会毫不犹豫地说：我的爷爷。他是一位退休的乡村教师，今年七十多岁，银发苍苍，温柔的眼睛里总像藏着故事。

爷爷最让我印象深刻的是他对学习的热爱。每天早上五点，他就起床读两个小时的书——有时是中国古诗，有时是世界历史。他的书桌上永远堆满了书和手写的笔记。"你停止学习的那天，就是你停止生活的那天，"他常对我说。更令人敬佩的是，他每个周末仍然在村里免费教孩子们读书。他以前的一些学生现在成了医生、老师和工程师，他们都说爷爷改变了他们的人生。

从爷爷身上，我学到了两个无价的道理：学习永远没有年龄限制，而最真实的幸福来自照亮他人的路。他也许只是小村庄里一个普通的老人，但在我心中，他是不平凡的。
