参考范文

How to Be Eco-Friendly in Daily Life

Last year, I decided to make eco-friendly choices a part of my daily life. I brought my own shopping bags instead of using plastic ones, turned off lights and taps when not needed, and sorted our household waste into different bins. I also persuaded my parents to walk or cycle for short trips instead of driving. At first it felt like extra work, but soon it became a habit.

It didn't take long before we noticed the difference. Our electricity bill dropped by nearly 20%, and our family started talking more about how to reduce waste. My little brother even began reminding us to recycle! What surprised me was that small actions could really add up — we produced less garbage and felt good about doing our part.

I've learned that being eco-friendly doesn't require big sacrifices. It starts with small steps, and when everyone joins in, every drop counts. The Earth is our home; taking care of it is something we can all do.

全文翻译

日常生活中如何环保

去年，我决定把环保选择融入日常生活。我自带购物袋而不是用塑料袋，不用时关灯关水龙头，把家里的垃圾分成不同垃圾桶投放。我还说服爸妈短途出行走路或骑车。起初觉得是额外负担，但很快就成了习惯。

没多久我们就看到了变化。家里的电费下降了近 20%，家人开始更多地讨论如何减少浪费。弟弟甚至开始提醒我们回收！让我惊讶的是，小小的行动真的能累积——我们产生的垃圾变少了，也为自己尽了一份力而感到满足。

我明白了，环保并不需要做出巨大牺牲。它从小事开始，当每个人都参与进来，每一滴水都算数。地球是我们的家，呵护它是我们都能做的事。
