中考英语完形填空：冬日里的热巧克力

完形填空原文

It was the first day of the new year, and the weather was very cold outside. I stayed at home with my grandmother, who was visiting us for the 1. She smiled and said, "Let me teach you how to make hot chocolate."

I followed her into the kitchen. She took out some milk, cocoa powder, and a little sugar. "The 2 to good hot chocolate is using real cocoa, not the instant kind," she explained. She poured the milk into a small pot and heated it 3 on the stove.

While we waited, Grandma told me that when she was young, her mother used to make hot chocolate for the whole 4 every winter morning. "It was our way of staying warm and staying close," she said. I could see the happy memories in her 5.

When the milk was warm enough, she added two spoons of cocoa powder and one spoon of sugar. She stirred the mixture carefully so that there were no 6 left. The kitchen was soon filled with a rich, sweet smell. I could not wait to 7 it.

Grandma poured the hot chocolate into two cups and added a few small marshmallows on top. We sat by the window and drank it 8. The warm drink made me feel comfortable from head to toe. Outside, a few snowflakes began to fall, making the scene even more 9.

"Grandma, this is the best hot chocolate I've ever had," I said. She laughed and replied, "It's not just about the chocolate. It's about who you 10 it with." I nodded and held my cup tighter. That was the sweetest start to a new year.
