05-12 第2篇

阅读理解（记叙文）

① Lily had been playing the piano since she was six years old. Now, at fourteen, she was about to enter the city's Youth Piano Competition (青少年钢琴比赛) for the first time. She practiced for two hours every day after school, and her fingers sometimes hurt so much that she had to put them in cold water.

② "Are you sure you're ready?" her mother asked one evening, watching Lily close the piano lid with a tired face. "There will be many talented players there." Lily nodded. "I know, Mom. But I've worked really hard. I just want to try."

③ On the day of the competition, Lily arrived at the concert hall early. She saw other competitors warming up backstage (在后台). Some of them looked very confident, laughing and chatting with their friends. Lily felt her heart beating fast. She sat alone in a corner, quietly going over the music in her head.

④ When her name was called, Lily walked onto the stage. The bright lights made her blink (眨眼). She sat down, took a deep breath, and placed her hands on the keys. For the first few notes, her fingers were shaking. But as the music continued, something changed. She forgot about the judges, the audience, and the other competitors. She was lost in the music, playing from her heart.

⑤ Lily did not win first place that day — she came in third. Some people might think third place is not good enough, but Lily was smiling when she came off the stage. "I played my best," she told her mother. "And I learned that being brave enough to try is already a kind of victory." Her mother hugged her tightly and whispered, "I'm so proud of you."

【解析】 Lily 从6岁开始弹钢琴，现在14岁，所以她已经弹了8年。A 项"6年"混淆了开始学琴的年龄和弹琴的时长；C 项"10年"和 D 项"14年"均计算错误。故选 B。

2. 【答案】B

5. 【答案】C

【题型】 推理判断
