05-15 第2篇

阅读理解（议论文）

① In many countries, students are required to wear school uniforms (校服). Some students love them, while others wish they could wear their own clothes every day. Should schools require uniforms? People have different opinions on this question.

④ There is also a practical concern. School uniforms can actually cost quite a lot of money in some schools, especially when families must buy separate uniforms for summer and winter, plus sports uniforms. For low-income (低收入的) families, this can be a real burden (负担). So the argument that uniforms save money does not always hold true.

⑤ In my view, school uniforms have more advantages than disadvantages. However, schools should listen to students' opinions when designing uniforms. If the uniform is comfortable, reasonably priced, and looks nice, most students would be happy to wear it. The key is to find a balance (平衡) between rules and students' needs.
