阅读理解（议论文）

① With the development of technology, e-books have become more and more popular. Many students now read books on tablets (平板电脑) or phones instead of carrying paper books. But which is better — e-books or paper books? People have different opinions.

② Supporters of e-books point out several advantages. First, e-books are easy to carry. You can store thousands of books on one small device. This is very helpful for students who need many textbooks. Second, e-books are often cheaper than paper books. Some websites even offer free e-books. Third, e-books are better for the environment because they save paper and reduce the need to cut down trees. Also, you can adjust the font size on a screen, which is useful for people with poor eyesight.

③ However, many people still prefer paper books. They believe that reading on paper is more comfortable for the eyes. Staring at a screen for too long can cause eye problems, headaches, and poor sleep. Paper books also give readers a special feeling — the smell of the pages, the weight of the book, and the sound of turning pages. These experiences cannot be replaced by a screen. Besides, studies show that people remember information better when they read it on paper rather than on a screen.

④ There is also a practical concern. E-books need electricity and a device. If your phone runs out of power or breaks down, you cannot read. Paper books do not have this problem — you can read them anytime and anywhere, even without electricity. On the other hand, paper books take up space. If you have too many, your bookshelf (书架) may not be big enough.

⑤ In my opinion, both e-books and paper books have their place. For quick reading or traveling, e-books are a good choice. For serious study or enjoying literature (文学), paper books may be better. The most important thing is not the form of the book, but whether we develop the habit of reading. After all, reading itself is what makes us wiser and better.
