Healthy Eating Guide for Students

①Eating well helps you stay healthy and focus in class. Here are some simple tips for students. Follow them, and you will feel better and study better too.

②Eat a good breakfast. Do not skip breakfast. Your body and brain need energy after a long night. A healthy breakfast can include eggs, bread, milk, or fruit. Avoid eating too much sugar in the morning. Candy and sweet drinks may give you a quick boost, but you will feel tired soon after.

③Choose balanced meals. Try to have a mix of different foods: grains (rice, noodles, bread), vegetables, fruit, and some meat or beans. Do not eat only one type of food. Too much fried food or junk food is bad for your health. Save them for occasional treats, not every day.

④Drink enough water. Many students forget to drink water. When you feel thirsty, you are already a bit dehydrated. Bring a water bottle to school. Drink small amounts often. Avoid too many soft drinks. They have a lot of sugar and can harm your teeth.

⑤Food safety tips. Wash your hands before eating. Check the date on packaged food—do not eat food that is expired. If food looks or smells bad, throw it away. When eating out, choose clean places. Your health comes first.

Tip	Key Point
Breakfast	Do not skip; include eggs, milk, fruit
Balanced meals	Mix of grains, vegetables, fruit, protein
Water	Drink enough; bring a bottle; less soda
Food safety	Wash hands; check dates; avoid bad food
