中考英语完形填空：学种小麦草

完形填空原文

In our biology class this week, the teacher gave each of us a small pot and some wheat seeds. She asked us to grow wheatgrass at home and 1 its growth every day. I thought it would be a fun project.

When I got home, I put some soil into the pot and spread the seeds 2 on top. Then I covered them with a thin layer of soil and watered them gently. My mother helped me find a sunny 3 near the window to place the pot.

For the first two days, nothing happened. I was a little 4 and wondered if I had done something wrong. But my mother told me to be patient. She said seeds need time to sprout.

On the third morning, I was surprised to see tiny green 5 pushing through the soil. They were very small, but I could already tell they were alive and growing. I felt so 6!

Every day after school, the first thing I did was check my wheatgrass. I watered it carefully and made sure it got enough 7. By the end of the week, the grass had grown about five centimeters tall. It looked fresh and green.

I took some photos and brought my pot to school. When I compared mine with my classmates' pots, I noticed that everyone's grass looked 8. Some were taller, some were shorter, and some were a deeper green. The teacher said the differences were because of different growing 9 like light, water, and temperature.

This project taught me to be patient and observant. Watching a tiny seed grow into a green plant is truly 10. I plan to keep growing different plants at home.
