中考英语完形填空：学做芋圆

完形填空原文

Last weekend, my mother and I decided to make taro balls at home. I had 1 eaten them in milk tea shops, but I never knew how they were made. Mom said it would be fun to learn together.

First, we bought fresh taro from the market. After washing and steaming it, we had to mash it into a 2. This step was harder than I expected. My arms got tired, but I didn't want to give up. Mom 3 me and said, "Good job! Keep going."

Then we added sweet potato starch and a little sugar. We mixed everything until it became a smooth 4. The dough felt soft and warm in my hands. I really enjoyed touching it. Next, we rolled the dough into long strips and cut it into small 5. Each piece would become one taro ball.

We boiled a pot of water and put the taro balls in. When they 6 to the surface, they were ready. The kitchen was full of a sweet 7. I couldn't wait to taste them!

We served the taro balls with coconut milk and ice. They tasted 8 than the ones in the shops! Maybe because we made them with love. Making food by hand takes time, but the 9 is wonderful. I learned that the best things in life often need 10 and care.
