中考英语完形填空：公交卡里的温暖

完形填空原文

Every morning, I take the bus to school. One day, when I tried to swipe my bus card, the machine said "Insufficient balance." I had 1 to add money to my card. I stood there, not knowing what to do. The driver looked at me impatiently.

"Here, use mine," said a voice behind me. An elderly man 2 me his bus card. "I have a senior card with free rides. You can use it for one trip." I was surprised and grateful. I thanked him and 3 the card. When I got off the bus, I tried to return it, but he shook his head. "Keep it for the 4 trip. You can give it to someone else who needs help."

I was deeply moved. That small act of kindness 5 me for the whole day. I began to notice something: on the bus, people often help each other. A woman gives her seat to a 6 passenger. A student helps an old person carry bags. These small actions make our city feel 7.

A few days later, I saw a girl who couldn't find her bus card. I remembered the old man's words. I walked over and 8 my card. "You can use this for today," I said. Her smile was the best thank you. I understood that kindness is like a ___9___—it keeps going from one person to another. We can all be part of this warm 10.
