中考英语完形填空：放学路上的小卖部

完形填空原文

On the way home from school, there was a small shop that Liu Ming passed every day. The owner was an old man named Grandpa Wang. His shop sold snacks, drinks, and school things. It was not big, but it was always 1 and warm. Many students liked to stop there after class.

One rainy day, Liu Ming forgot to bring his umbrella. He stood under a tree near the shop, getting wet. Grandpa Wang saw him and 2 him to come in. "Come inside, boy. You'll catch a cold if you stay in the rain." Liu Ming went in and dried himself. Grandpa Wang even gave him a cup of hot water. Liu Ming felt very 3 inside.

From then on, Liu Ming often visited the shop. Sometimes he bought something small. Sometimes he just went in to say hello. Grandpa Wang was always 4 to chat when students dropped by. He would tell stories about the old days. Liu Ming liked to listen. He learned that Grandpa Wang had run the shop for over twenty years. Many students had grown up and 5 the neighborhood, but they still came back to visit him when they had time.

One afternoon, Liu Ming noticed that Grandpa Wang looked tired. "Are you okay?" he asked. Grandpa Wang smiled and said, "I'm fine. I'm just getting old." Liu Ming thought for a moment and said, "Let me help you. I can 6 the heavy boxes onto the shelves after school." Grandpa Wang's eyes lit up. "That would be wonderful, thank you!"

After that, Liu Ming helped at the shop twice a week. He learned how to 7 customers and keep the shop tidy. Grandpa Wang was very grateful. He said, "A kind heart is the best 8 a person can have. Never lose it." Liu Ming understood. Helping others could bring real happiness. The small shop had become more than a place to buy things. It was a place where 9 and care met. Liu Ming would always remember those afternoons and the smile on Grandpa Wang's face. Sometimes the simplest acts of 10 can change both the giver and the receiver.
