中考英语完形填空：升旗台的护旗手

完形填空原文

Every Monday morning, our school holds a flag-raising ceremony. Three students stand in front of the flagpole as flag guards. Last term, I was chosen to be one of them. I felt both honored and 1.

The day before the ceremony, we practised for two hours. The teacher told us that every step and every move must be exact. "You represent our school," she said. I tried my best to 2 every detail. My arms ached, but I didn't complain. I knew that the other two guards were 3 just as hard.

On Monday morning, I put on my uniform and stood ready. My heart was beating fast. When the national anthem started, we raised the flag together. I focused on my 4 and tried not to make any mistakes. The flag went up slowly, and when it reached the top, I felt a wave of pride.

After the ceremony, many classmates said we did a good job. But what I remembered most was not the praise. It was the 5 of standing there with hundreds of students singing together. That moment made me understand what it means to belong to something bigger than 6.

Being a flag guard taught me about responsibility. We had to arrive early, practise carefully, and work as a 7. No one could do it alone. If one of us made a mistake, the whole ceremony would be affected. This 8 me that in life, we often need to depend on others and others depend on us.

I will never forget those Monday mornings. The red flag against the blue sky, the solemn music, and the 9 on everyone's faces — they remind me that some moments in life are meant to be 10 in our hearts and remembered.
