中考英语完形填空：超市购物

完形填空原文

Last Saturday, Mum asked me to help her with the shopping. "You are old enough now," she said. "Let us go to the supermarket together." I had been to the supermarket many times before, but I had never paid much 1 to how Mum chose things. This time I would learn.

We took a shopping cart and walked through the aisles. Mum had a list in her hand. "First, we need milk, bread and eggs," she said. I found the milk section and picked up a bottle. "Wait," Mum said. "Check the 2 date. We should choose one that will last longer." I looked at the dates and chose a bottle that would stay fresh for another week.

When we passed the fruit section, Mum showed me how to pick good apples. "Choose ones that are firm and have a nice 3," she said. "Avoid ones with bruises or soft spots." I had never thought that shopping needed so much care. Mum said that small choices could make a big 4 to our health and how much money we spent.

At the vegetable counter, Mum taught me another lesson. "Sometimes the vegetables that look a little imperfect are 5 and just as good," she said. "We do not need to waste food just because it does not look perfect." I nodded. That made sense.

When we finished, we had a full cart. Mum let me push it to the checkout. The cashier scanned our items and told us the total. Mum handed me her wallet and said, "You pay today." My hands were a little 6 as I counted the money. It was the first time I had paid for our family shopping. Mum smiled and said, "You did a good 7."

On the way home, I thought about what I had learned. Shopping was not just about buying things. It was about making smart 8, comparing prices, and choosing what was best for our family. I felt that I had grown up a little that day. Maybe next time I could help Mum plan the 9 before we went. I was starting to understand what it meant to be 10 in a family.
