中考英语完形填空：坐火车旅行

完形填空原文

Last summer, my family took a train trip to visit my grandparents. It was my first long 1 by train. I was very excited when we arrived at the station. There were so many people carrying bags and suitcases.

We found our seats and put our luggage on the rack above. The train 2 slowly at first, then faster and faster. I looked out of the window and watched the scenery fly by. Green fields, small villages, and tall mountains passed before my eyes. It was like watching a moving 3.

After about an hour, I felt a bit hungry. My mum had packed some snacks — biscuits, fruit, and a few sandwiches. We shared them and had a small picnic on the train. The food tasted 4 perhaps because we were travelling together.

An old man sat next to us. He was going to the same city. He told us stories about his youth and how he used to travel by train when he was young. "Trains have changed a lot," he said. "But the 5 of travel remains the same — discovering new places and meeting new people."

The journey took six hours. When we finally 6 at my grandparents' city, it was already evening. My grandparents were waiting for us at the station. They hugged us tightly. I was tired but very happy.

That train trip taught me that the 7 is just as important as the destination. We should enjoy every moment of our journey, not just rush to the end. I also made a new 8 — the kind old man. He gave me his phone number and said I could call him if I ever visited his town again.

I hope to take more train trips in the future. There is something special about 9 by train — you can see the world slowly unfold outside your window. It is different from flying, where everything seems to pass in a blink. Trains let you 10 and breathe.
