中考英语完形填空：学下棋

完形填空原文

My grandfather loves playing Chinese chess. Every weekend when I visit him, he would ask, "Want to learn?" For a long time I said no — I thought it was a game for 1 people. But one day I felt bored and agreed to try.

Grandpa placed the board on the table and explained the basic 2. "Each piece moves in a different way," he said. "The horse jumps, the cannon needs a screen, and the elephant cannot cross the river." It sounded complicated at first. I made many mistakes and lost game after game. Grandpa never laughed at me. He just said, "Think before you 3."

Slowly, I began to understand the game. I learned to plan my moves ahead. Grandpa taught me that a good player does not only look at the next move — they think about the whole 4. "Chess is like life," he said. "Every choice has results. You must learn to accept both wins and 5."

After a few months, I could sometimes beat Grandpa. He would smile and say, "You have improved a lot!" That made me feel proud. But more importantly, I enjoyed the time we spent 6. We talked about school, life, and dreams while playing. The chess board became our special place to connect.

I have brought a small chess set to school. During breaks, my friends and I play quick games. Some of them are now learning too. We 7 each other and have fun together. Chess has become more than a game — it is a way to build 8.

Grandpa says that chess will stay with me for life. No matter how old I get, I can always find someone to play with. I hope to teach my own children or grandchildren one day, just like Grandpa taught me. That would be the best 9 I could pass on.

Learning chess has taught me patience, thinking, and the joy of 10 with someone you love. I am thankful for Grandpa's patience and for this wonderful game.
