完形填空原文

The summer holiday has come to an end. As I sit at my desk and look back at the past two months, I feel that it was a meaningful and 1 holiday. I would like to share what I have learned and gained.

First of all, I improved my cooking skills. I learned to make simple dishes like fried rice and vegetable soup. At the beginning, I was 2 that I would burn the food or make it taste bad. But with practice, I became more confident. Now I can help my parents prepare meals when they are busy. This makes me feel proud and useful.

Secondly, I read more books than usual. I finished five books — two novels, one science book, and two books about history. Reading opened my 3 to new ideas and different worlds. I also learned to take notes while reading, which helped me remember and understand the content better. I plan to keep this habit during the school year.

Thirdly, I spent quality time with my family. We went on a short trip to the countryside. We visited my grandparents and helped them with some work in the garden. My grandfather taught me how to grow vegetables. He said that working with the earth can 4 you feel calm and connected to nature. I found that he was right.

Of course, I also did my homework and reviewed what I had learned last term. I did not want to 5 everything during the holiday. A little study each day helped me stay fresh and ready for the new term. I believe that small steps every day can lead to big progress.

The holiday was not perfect. There were days when I felt lazy and did nothing useful. But I have learned that it is okay to rest sometimes. We cannot be productive every single moment. What matters is that we try our best and do not give up on our 6.

As I prepare for the new term, I feel both excited and a little nervous. New subjects, new challenges, and new opportunities are waiting. I will take what I have learned this summer and use it to become a better 7. I will work hard, stay curious, and never stop learning.

To all my classmates: I hope you also had a good holiday. Let us share our stories when we meet. And let us support each other in the year 8. Together we can achieve more.

The summer of 2024 will always hold a special place in my heart. It was a time of growth, discovery, and gratitude. I am thankful for every experience, every lesson, and
