中考英语完形填空：参观博物馆

完形填空原文

Last month, our class went on a school trip to the city museum. We had been studying Chinese history, and our teacher said that seeing real artefacts would help us understand the past better. I was looking 1 to the visit.

The museum was a large building with tall columns at the entrance. Inside, it was cool and quiet. We were divided into small groups, and each group had a guide. Our guide was a young woman who spoke clearly and knew a lot about the 2.

The first room showed tools and pottery from thousands of years ago. I was amazed to see how people lived without modern technology. They made their own bowls, cups, and cooking pots from clay. The guide said that each piece told a 3 about the people who made it.

We moved to the second room, which displayed ancient coins and jewellery. There was a gold crown that once belonged to a queen. I pressed my face close to the glass to see the fine details. The guide warned us not to 4 the displays. "These objects are very old and fragile," she said.

In the third room, we saw weapons and armour from different dynasties. There were swords, spears, and shields. Our guide explained how soldiers protected themselves in battles. I had never thought about history in such a 5 way before. It was like stepping back in time.

We had a short break at noon. The museum had a cafe where we could buy drinks and snacks. I sat with my friends and discussed what we had seen. We all agreed that the trip was much more 6 than reading from a textbook.

After lunch, we visited the art section. There were traditional paintings of mountains, rivers, and flowers. The colours were beautiful, and the brushwork was delicate. Our teacher said that art reflects the culture and 7 of a time. I began to appreciate Chinese art more.

Before we left, we went to the gift shop. I bought a small replica of an ancient coin for my grandfather. He loves collecting such things. The shop also sold postcards, books, and other 8. I could have spent the whole afternoon there.

The bus ride back to school was quiet. Many of us were tired but happy. I thought about everything I had learned. Museums are like time machines — they take us to the past and help us 9 the present. I hope we can visit more 10 in the future.
