中考英语完形填空：参观历史博物馆

完形填空原文

Our history teacher organised a class trip to the city museum last month. She said that seeing real objects from the past would help us understand our lessons 1. I had never been to a museum before, so I was looking forward to the visit.

The museum was a large building with white walls. When we walked in, the first thing I saw was a huge dinosaur skeleton. It was 2 than I had imagined. A guide welcomed us and explained that we would tour three halls: ancient China, traditional crafts, and modern history.

In the ancient China hall, we saw pottery, bronze ware, and old coins. Each object had a small card describing when and where it was 3. I was especially interested in a set of ancient bells. The guide said they were over two thousand years old. I could not 4 that such delicate things had survived for so long.

The traditional crafts hall showed how people used to make silk, paper, and pottery. There were videos showing the 5 process. I learned that making a piece of fine china could take many weeks. The craftsmen in the past were really patient and 6.

Before we left, we had half an hour of 7 time. My friends and I went to the gift shop. I bought a postcard with a picture of the museum to keep as a souvenir. Some classmates took photos in front of their favourite exhibits. Our teacher reminded us not to use flash, as it could 8 the old objects.

On the bus back to school, we talked about what we had seen. The museum visit made history feel more 9 to me. Reading about the past in books is one thing, but standing in front of real artefacts is quite another. I hope we can go on more such 10 in the future. Learning outside the classroom can be fun and memorable.
