中考英语完形填空：参加篮球训练营

完形填空原文

This summer I joined a basketball training camp. I had always loved watching basketball games on TV, but I had never received professional training. The camp lasted two weeks and was held at our school sports centre.

On the first day, the coach asked us to run five laps around the court as a warm-up. I was out of breath 1 the third lap. The coach said, "Basketball needs strong legs and good stamina. You need to build your fitness first." I realised that playing basketball was 2 than I thought.

Every morning we practised basic skills: dribbling, passing, and shooting. The coach corrected our posture and movements. "Keep your knees slightly bent," he said. "And 3 your eyes on the ball." I used to look at the ground when I dribbled, but the coach said we should look ahead to see our teammates and the basket.

We also learned teamwork. In a real game, you cannot win 4. We did many passing exercises. The coach said that a good pass was sometimes more important than a good shot. I learned to pass the ball at the right 5 so my teammate could catch it easily.

By the second week, we started to play practice matches. I was assigned to guard an older boy who was much taller than me. At first I felt 6, but the coach said, "Use your speed. Don't try to block him directly." I learned to stay close and use quick moves. We lost that match, but I felt I had improved.

On the last day, the camp held a friendly tournament. Our team won two games and lost one. I scored my first basket in a real match! The coach gave each of us a certificate. He said, "Remember, 7 makes perfect. Keep practising and you will get better."

The camp was hard work, but I enjoyed every moment. I made new friends and learned to love the sport even more. Now I play basketball at least three times a week. I hope to 8 the school team next year. Basketball has taught me that success comes from effort and never giving 9. I will always 10 the lessons I learned at the camp.
