中考英语完形填空：课间十分钟

完形填空原文

The ten-minute break between classes is important for every student. It gives us time to rest our minds and prepare for the next lesson. Different students spend the break in different 1. Some go to the bathroom or get a drink of water. Others walk around the corridor or chat with friends in the hallway.

My favorite thing to do during the break is to look out of the window. Our classroom is on the third floor, and we have a good 2 of the playground. I like watching students playing basketball or doing exercises. Sometimes I see teachers walking and talking. The fresh air from the open window makes me feel 3.

Last week, something interesting happened. My deskmate Xiao Ming found a bird with a hurt wing on the windowsill. We were both 4 and didn't know what to do. We quickly went to our biology teacher for help. She told us to put the bird in a soft box and keep it warm. We followed her 5 and the little bird seemed to feel better. Later, the teacher took it to an animal rescue center.

That experience made me realize that the break is not only for resting. We can also use it to 6 our surroundings and help others when needed. Now I pay more attention to what happens around me. Yesterday I helped a first-year student find his 7 when he looked lost in the corridor. He thanked me with a big smile. Small acts of kindness can make a big 8.

Our headteacher often reminds us to use the break 9. She says we shouldn't run in the hallway or play too wildly. Safety always comes first. I think a good break helps us study better in the next class. So let's make the 10 of every ten-minute break!
