中考英语完形填空：国庆节前的班会

完形填空原文

The day before National Day, our class held a special class meeting. Our head teacher, Miss Zhang, said she wanted to talk about the meaning of National Day and what we could do as students to show our 1 for our country.

The meeting started with a short video about the history of China. We learned about the difficult journey of our nation and how our ancestors had 2 for a better life. Many heroes had sacrificed everything for our country's independence and prosperity. Watching the video, I felt a strong sense of pride.

Then Miss Zhang asked us to share our thoughts. "What does our country mean to you?" she asked. One classmate said that China meant home — a place where we belonged. Another said it meant 3 — the rich culture and long history that we should be proud of. I said that our country meant hope — the chance to grow and achieve our dreams in a peaceful and developing nation.

Miss Zhang smiled and said we had all given wonderful answers. She then told us that loving our country didn't always mean doing something big. We could start with small things: studying hard, being 4 to others, following rules, and protecting the environment. "Every good thing you do makes our country a little 5," she said.

We also discussed our plans for the National Day holiday. Some students would travel with their families. Others would stay at home and rest. I planned to visit a museum to learn more about our country's history. Miss Zhang said that was a good idea and 6 us to make good use of the holiday.

At the end of the meeting, we sang the national anthem together. Standing there, singing with my classmates, I felt a deep connection to our country. The 7 made me think about the responsibility we all share as Chinese citizens.

That class meeting was meaningful. It reminded me that we should never take our peaceful life for 8. We should be grateful and work hard to contribute to our country's future. As students, the best way to love our country is to study well and become useful 9 of society when we grow up. I will 10 this lesson in mind and do my part for our country.
