中考英语完形填空：学下国际象棋

完形填空原文

My uncle came to visit us during the National Day holiday. He is a chess lover and has won many competitions. On October 4th, he offered to 1 me how to play chess.

"Chess is not just a game," he said. "It teaches you to think carefully and plan 2." I was curious and excited to learn.

He started by showing me the board and the pieces. Each piece has a different 3 and can move in different ways. The king is the most important piece, but it can only move one step at a time. The queen is the most powerful — she can move in any direction. I thought that was very 4.

Then we started to play our first game. Uncle told me to think before every move. "Don't just react to what the other player does," he said. "Try to 5 what they might do next." This was hard for me because I was used to making quick decisions without much thought.

In our first game, I lost 6. Uncle captured almost all my pieces within ten minutes. I felt a little disappointed, but he said, "Losing is part of learning. The important thing is to understand 7 you lost."

We played three more games that afternoon. I lost all of them, but each time I lasted a little 8. In the last game, I even managed to capture Uncle's queen, which made me very proud. He said I was making fast progress.

That evening, Uncle gave me a chess book and suggested that I 9 some basic strategies. He also told me about an online chess platform where I could play with other beginners. I was excited to continue learning.

Chess has become my new hobby. It is 10 different from computer games — it requires real thinking and patience. I hope that one day I can play as well as my uncle.
