中考英语完形填空：学做手工暖手宝

完形填空原文

Winter mornings can be very cold. My hands always feel frozen on the way to school. Last weekend, my craft teacher showed us how to make a simple hand warmer using fabric and rice. I thought it was a 1 and practical idea.

The materials were easy to find: a piece of soft cotton fabric, some dry rice, and needle and thread. The teacher said we could also add a few drops of lavender oil to make it smell 2.

First, we cut the fabric into two heart-shaped pieces of the same size. The teacher reminded us to leave a little extra space around the 3 for sewing. I chose a red piece of fabric because red is the color of warmth.

Then we placed the two pieces together with the nice sides facing 4. We sewed along the edge, leaving a small opening at the bottom. This step needed concentration because the stitches had to be small and even. I made a few 5 at first, but I slowly got better.

After sewing, we turned the fabric inside out through the opening. Now the nice pattern was on the 6. Next, I used a small funnel to pour rice into the heart-shaped pouch. I filled it about three-quarters full so it would still be soft and 7.

Finally, I sewed the opening shut by hand. The hand warmer was complete. To use it, I just needed to put it in the microwave for thirty 8, and it would stay warm for about an hour.

I made two hand warmers that day. I gave one to my mother as a gift. She was very 9 and said it was the most thoughtful present she had ever received. She put it in her coat pocket and used it on her morning walk.

Making this hand warmer taught me that the best gifts are not expensive ones, but the ones made with 10 and care. I plan to make more for my friends before the winter holiday.
