中考英语完形填空：学做奶茶

完形填空原文

Milk tea has become very popular among teenagers. Last weekend, my cousin invited me to her home to learn how to make it. I was excited because I had never 1 it before.

First, we boiled water and made black tea. My cousin said the tea needed to 2 for about five minutes so that the flavor would be strong enough. While waiting, we prepared some tapioca pearls. She told me they had to be cooked in boiling water until they became soft and 3.

Next, we added milk and a little sugar to the tea. My cousin taught me to 4 the mixture well so that everything would blend together. "The key is to balance the taste—not too sweet and not too bitter," she said.

Then we put ice cubes into the cups and poured the milk tea over them. We added the cooked tapioca pearls at the bottom. The final step was to put a wide straw in each cup so we could 5 the pearls while drinking.

I took my first sip. The drink was cool, sweet, and 6. The chewy pearls made it even more fun to drink. My cousin smiled and said, "See? Making milk tea at home is not difficult. You can 7 the recipe and add different flavors like coconut or mango."

From this experience, I learned that homemade drinks can be both 8 and healthy. I also discovered that cooking with family or friends is a great way to 9 time together. Now I plan to make milk tea for my parents and share this 10 skill with them.
