中考英语完形填空：学做花生糖

完形填空原文

Last Sunday, my mother suggested we make peanut candy at home. It was a traditional snack that her grandmother used to make. I was curious and agreed to 1 right away.

First, we needed to prepare the peanuts. Mother poured them into a frying pan and 2 them over low heat. She said we had to stir them often so they wouldn't burn. After about ten minutes, the peanuts turned golden and smelled 3. Then we removed the skins and broke them into smaller pieces.

Next, we made the sugar syrup. Mother poured sugar and a little water into a pot. As the mixture heated, it began to 4 and turn brown. "We need to be careful here," she said. "The syrup must reach the right temperature." I watched closely as she stirred it with a wooden spoon.

When the syrup was ready, we quickly mixed in the peanut pieces. Mother poured the mixture onto a greased tray and I helped spread it 5. We had to work fast before it hardened. Then we used a knife to cut it into small squares while it was still warm.

After it cooled completely, we tried our peanut candy. It was crispy outside and sweet inside. The 6 of roasted peanuts filled my mouth. "It's even better than the ones from the store!" I said. Mother smiled and said that homemade food always tasted 7 because we put our love into it.

Making peanut candy together was a wonderful 8. I learned that some of the best things in life come from spending time with family and 9 old traditions. I hope we can make it again during the Spring Festival and 10 it with our relatives.
