04-03 第1篇

阅读理解（记叙文）

① It was a hot Sunday afternoon. David was playing a basketball game on his computer. He was having a lot of fun. Suddenly, he heard a loud noise from next door. He knew that an old lady, Mrs. Smith, lived there alone. Her children worked in another city and seldom came back.

② David stopped playing his game and quickly ran to Mrs. Smith's house. The front door was open. He went inside and found Mrs. Smith sitting on the kitchen floor. There were broken glasses around her. "Are you okay, Mrs. Smith?" David asked, feeling very worried.

③ "Oh, David! I am so glad you are here," she said with a weak voice. "I was trying to get a cup of water, but I felt dizzy (头晕的) and fell down. My leg hurts so much that I can't stand up."

⑤ At the hospital, the doctor said Mrs. Smith's leg wasn't broken, but she needed to rest for a few days. Mrs. Smith thanked David again and again. David smiled and said, "It's nothing. I'm just happy to help." From that day on, David often visited Mrs. Smith after school to help her with housework.

注释： dizzy 头晕的；emergency 紧急情况；dial 拨打
