Winter Bird-Watching Week — "Meet the Quiet Guests of Our Courtyard"
Mon 6 — Sat 11 December 2027

Winter may look empty, but our school courtyard is quietly busier than spring. The big plane trees at the north wall, the cedar hedge near the library, the small pond behind Teaching Building B — all of them become a warm and safe stop for small birds flying down from the north every December. This year the Biology Team, together with the Green Club, is turning one full school week into the first Lihua Winter Bird-Watching Week. No telescopes needed, no scary early mornings; just eyes, ears, a small card, and three quiet minutes at the right spot.

🦪 Who Are Our Winter Guests?

Last winter our teachers quietly kept a small log. The ten most common birds in our courtyard between December and early February were:

#	Bird (English / 中文)	Where you often see it	Size hint
1	Eurasian tree sparrow / 麻雀	Everywhere, in small groups	Small
2	Light-vented bulbul / 白头鹎	Cedar hedge, library wall	Medium
3	Oriental magpie / 喜鹊	High branches of plane trees	Large, black-and-white
4	Azure-winged magpie / 灰喜鹊	Noisy, often 6—10 together	Medium
5	Common myna-like starling / 灰椋鸟	Open lawn, flocks	Medium
6	Daurian redstart (female) / 北红尾鸲（雌）	Quiet corners near the pond	Small
7	Great tit / 大山雀	Near bird feeders, head black	Small
8	Red-billed blue magpie / 红嘴蓝鹊	Tall trees, long blue tail	Large
9	Oriental turtle dove / 山斑鸠	Ground, walking slowly	Medium
10	Chinese grosbeak / 黑尾蜡嘴	Top of cedar, with seeds	Medium

A laminated "Top-10 pocket card" will be in every classroom by Friday 3 December.

📝 What Happens Each Day

Mon 6 Dec — Quiet Start (07:30–07:50, before class)

- A small "silent greeting" on the playground; ten quiet minutes to simply listen.
- Three teachers will help point out sounds. No speaking to others during these ten minutes.

Tue 7 Dec — First Count (Lunch break, 12:20–12:50)

- The first "Three-Minute Count" at six fixed spots (map in every classroom).
- You stand still, count every bird you see or hear in exactly three minutes, mark it on your small card.

Wed 8 Dec — Bird-Feeder Making (Art lesson + Club time)

- Simple, safe, plastic-free bird feeders from cardboard tubes, peanut butter, and wild-bird seed.
- Feeders will be hung at five approved spots only (so that cleaning is possible after the week).

Thu 9 Dec — Sound Walk (afternoon PE option)

- A 20-minute slow walk along the inner courtyard, guided by the Biology Team.
- Everyone keeps voice at library level.
- A small recorder at each stop; sounds will be uploaded to a shared courtyard audio map.

Fri 10 Dec — Second Count + Posters

- Second "Three-Minute Count" at lunch.
- At 16:10, the small "Bird Poster Wall" opens outside Room 208: drawings, photos, short poems, and the first printed Courtyard Winter Bird List.

Sat 11 Dec — Early Morning Extension (optional, 07:00–08:30)

- For families who would like to join.
- Meet at the north gate; gentle, short, completely optional. Light rain will not cancel it; heavy rain will.

🚫 Four Firm Rules

1. Do not chase or scare any bird. We only watch and listen; we never make them fly.
2. Do not feed birds anywhere except at the five approved feeders; a half-eaten bun under a tree can hurt small stomachs.
3. Do not climb trees or the library wall to look into a nest. Nests are private homes.
4. Do not play bird-song recordings from phones to "call" birds; real wild birds can be stressed by fake calls.

🎒 What to Bring

- Ears and eyes. (Most important.)
- A pencil (pens freeze on very cold mornings); the Top-10 pocket card.
- Warm, quiet clothes; shoes without loud soles.
- No bright red jackets during counting if possible (some birds are shy of bright red).
- One soft, warm drink for the Saturday morning, if you join. No food outside — to keep the courtyard clean and to avoid attracting cats.

🙋‍♀️ Volunteer Roles (26 students)

- 6 "silent leaders" for Monday's quiet start.
- 6 count-map guides for Tuesday and Friday lunches.
- 6 feeder-makers for Wednesday.
- 4 sound-walk assistants for Thursday.
- 4 poster-wall curators for Friday evening.

Sign-up on the school mini-app → Green Club → Bird Week. Closing 03 December, 17:30.

📝 A Small Reward

Every student who completes at least four of the week's activities (the Monday greeting, one count, one feeder, one sound walk or one poster) will receive a small laminated card: "Quiet Watcher 2027 — Lihua Winter Courtyard". The card has a tiny drawing of a Daurian redstart on the back. No grade points are given; this is on purpose. The reward for watching is the watching itself.

> "A school is often measured by test marks and prize cups. But you can also measure a school by how quietly you can stand in its courtyard at 07:40 in December and still hear a bulbul on a bare branch above you. If our winter courtyard keeps its soft noises, we are doing something right."

— Biology Team & Green Club, 21 November 2027

注释： sparrow 麻雀；bulbul 鹎；redstart 红尾鸲；feeder 喂食器；laminate 覆膜

根据通知内容，选择最佳答案。

1. When is Lihua Winter Bird-Watching Week held?

A. Mon 6 — Sat 11 December 2027.
B. Fri 3 December only.
C. For three weeks in January.
D. Every day of winter holiday.

2. Which of the following is one of the four firm rules?

A. Students must feed all birds they see.
B. Students should not chase or scare any bird; they only watch and listen, and never make the birds fly.
C. Students may climb trees to look into nests.
D. Students must play bird-song recordings on their phones.

3. What will happen on Wednesday 8 December?

A. The sound walk will take place.
B. Art lesson and club time will be used to make simple, safe, plastic-free bird feeders from cardboard tubes, peanut butter and wild-bird seed; feeders will be hung at five approved spots only.
C. The second count will happen.
