Lihua Middle School · Chinese Department + Art Department
Winter Solstice Calligraphy Workshop 2027 — "One Brush, One Word, One Warm Hour."
Date: Tuesday, 22 December 2027 (Winter Solstice, 冬至)
Time: 15:30 — 17:10 (100 minutes, after last afternoon class)
Venue: Art Room 301 + Corridor A (3F)
Cost: Free (all paper, ink, brushes, and couplets provided)

---

① On the shortest day of the year, Tuesday 22 December 2027, Lihua Middle School opens its calligraphy room for a small, warm, hundred-minute winter-solstice afternoon. The Chinese Department and Art Department invite all Grades 7—9 students — especially those who have never picked up a brush before — to come to Art Room 301, sit at a long wooden table with warm yellow light, and write one single careful character on a piece of red or white paper. You may take your own paper home, give it to a family member, or leave it on our "Warm Word Wall" for the whole school to see until 31 December. No skill is needed. No photo is posted.

🕒 Afternoon Schedule

Time	Activity	Where
15:15 — 15:30	Room set-up by student captains	Art Room 301
15:30 — 15:40	Opening talk by Chinese Department Head Ms Qin: "Why one character is enough."	Art Room 301 stage
15:40 — 15:55	Demonstration by calligraphy teacher Mr Tao: three simple strokes (横 héng, 竖 shù, 点 diǎn)	Art Room 301 demo corner
15:55 — 16:45	Free practice (four rounds of 12 minutes)	Art Room 301 + Corridor A
16:45 — 16:55	Choose one character to write on official red/white paper	Art Room 301
16:55 — 17:05	Quiet walk of the Warm Word Wall (everyone walks past slowly, silently)	Corridor A

17:05 — 17:10	Brush wash, ink cover, room clean-up	Art Room 301

🔪 Materials Provided (all free)

Item	Quantity	Note
Small wolf-hair brush	1 per student	Size "中楷" (medium), for characters about 8—10 cm
Chinese ink stick + slate	1 per 2 students (shared)	No bottled ink — we grind fresh for the smell and the patience
Practice rice paper (毛边纸)	8 sheets per student	For drafting the character before final writing
Official red paper (红)	2 sheets per student	Sized 20 × 20 cm, for spring-festival style
Official white paper	1 sheet per student	Sized 20 × 20 cm, for restful-winter style
Small felt mat	1 per student	Placed under paper to protect the desk
Cotton rag	1 per student	Wipe brush, wipe table, keep hand clean

Please do NOT bring: your own ink, your own brush, your own name stamp, or your own phone. Everything is provided. Phones must be in your bag zipped up during practice.

🈷 Character List (choose one from the 14 suggested below, or ask Mr Tao for another)

Character	Pinyin	English	Best paper colour
福	fú	blessing	Red
静	jìng	calm / quiet	White
家	jiā	home / family	Red
暖	nuǎn	warm	White
善	shàn	kind	Red
勤	qín	diligent	White
安	ān	peace	Red
诚	chéng	honest	White
志	zhì	resolve	White
听	tīng	listen	White
恒	héng	perseverance	White
谦	qiān	humble	White

春	chūn	spring	Red
望	wàng	hope	White

Rule of one character: please write only one character on each official paper. Two characters (e.g. "福安") are beautiful but belong to a different workshop. The point of today is one careful brush on one careful word.

👩‍🏫 Student Captain Roles (12 captains)

- 4 Grinding captains: help younger students grind the ink stone; no ink too thick, no ink too watery; ~2 minutes of grinding per cup.
- 4 Table-side captains: help with brush grip (索笔式 or 五指执笔式), paper alignment, posture.
- 2 Wall captains: gently hang finished papers on the Warm Word Wall with wooden clothes-pegs, straight, 3 cm apart.
- 2 Clean-up captains: lead brush-washing at 17:05; teach proper brush-drying (pointed downward on rack).

All captains have practised calligraphy for at least two years. They will answer any small question quietly; please do not be shy.

🪄 Mr Tao's Four Small Rules

1. Sit straight; feet flat on the floor. "Calligraphy starts at the knees, not the wrist."
2. Breathe out, then write. The exhale steadies the forearm; the stroke is slower and cleaner.
3. The first stroke is the hardest. Do not scratch a light test line first; commit.
4. A shaky line is a true line. Do not throw away a paper because the brush wobbled; the trembling of a young hand is part of the character.

🎒 What to Wear / Bring

- A long-sleeved shirt that is not too loose — loose sleeves drag in the ink.
- Hair tied back if long.
- Bring one clean cloth bag from home to carry the finished paper (the papers must lie flat for 20 minutes before folding).
- No sweet drinks allowed in Art Room 301; plain water only, in a sealed bottle.

🍜 Small Kindness Table (in Corridor A)

- Free hot ginger-honey tea for every participating student (one small 100 ml cup).
- One small red-bean dumpling (tangyuan) per student — a small nod to the winter-solstice tradition that tangyuan means "reunion of the family around a round warm thing."
- No photography around the Kindness Table, please. Quiet drinking; quiet thinking.

❗ Important Quiet Reminders

- This is NOT a competition. Nobody's character is ranked. Nobody's character is photographed.
- The Warm Word Wall is anonymous. You may sign with only your year and class (e.g. 7B) at the lower-right corner, no name. Students who prefer to stay completely anonymous may leave the corner blank.
- Finished papers stay on the wall until 31 December. After that, students may take their papers home; unclaimed papers are folded gently and donated to the reading corner of Sunshine Elderly Home.
- Absent homeroom teachers will be sent a short written notice if their students attend.
- If you finish early, please sit quietly at your table and watch a neighbour write; do not talk.

💬 A Small Word from Ms Qin and Mr Tao

> "The winter solstice is the shortest day of the year, and for thousands of years, our ancestors marked this short day by gathering, writing, eating warm food, and going to bed early. On the evening of 22 December, while most of us will simply walk home and sit under a warm electric light, we invite you first, for one hundred quiet minutes, to stand in front of a small white page with a small black brush — and to write one careful word of your own for the winter to come. It does not have to be beautiful. It only has to be yours. A single character, written slowly by a fourteen-year-old on the shortest afternoon of the year, carries a kind of silence that no screen in the world can quite replace. Come. The paper is waiting."

根据通知内容，选择最佳答案。

1. What are the exact date, time, venue, and cost of the Winter Solstice Calligraphy Workshop 2027?

A. Tuesday 22 December 2027 (Winter Solstice / 冬至), 15:30 — 17:10 (100 minutes after last afternoon class), at Art Room 301 plus Corridor A on the 3rd floor, free (all paper, ink, brushes, and couplets provided).
B. Saturday 26 December, all day long, at the city museum, cost ¥200.
C. Monday 21 December, from 09:00 to 18:00, in the gym, cost ¥50.
D. The event is only online.

2. According to the materials provided and the "Rule of one character", which of the following is TRUE?

A. Students must bring their own brush and bottled ink.
B. Each student may write up to ten characters on one paper.
C. The Chinese ink stick + slate is 1 per 2 students (shared) because the workshop grinds fresh ink for the smell and the patience rather than using bottled ink; practice rice paper (毛边纸) is 8 sheets per student for drafting before the final character; official red paper is 2 sheets per student (20 × 20 cm, for spring-festival style) and official white paper is 1 sheet per student (20 × 20 cm, for restful-winter style); students must not bring their own ink, brush, name stamp or phone (phones must stay zipped in bags); and the "Rule of one character" requires only one character per official paper — two characters belong to a different workshop, because the point of today is one careful brush on one careful word.
D. Students must use coloured markers to write the characters.

3. What are Mr Tao's four small rules for calligraphy practice?

A. Stand up, shout, write fast, and stamp the paper.
B. Sit on the floor, hold breath, use both hands, and copy from the internet.
C. (1) Sit straight with feet flat on the floor ("Calligraphy starts at the knees, not the wrist"); (2) breathe out, then write, because the exhale steadies the forearm and the stroke is slower and cleaner; (3) the first stroke is the hardest — do not scratch a light test line first; commit; (4) a shaky line is a true line — do not throw away a paper because the brush wobbled, as the trembling of a young hand is part of the character.
D. Copy a famous master's work exactly, never add any personal style.

4. What rules govern the Warm Word Wall, the Kindness Table, and the end of the workshop?

A. Everyone must sign their full name on their paper; photos are required.
B. The Warm Word Wall is anonymous — students may sign with only their year and class (e.g. "7B") at the lower-right corner with no name, and those who prefer total anonymity may leave the corner blank; finished papers stay on the wall until 31 December, after which students may take them home and unclaimed papers are folded gently and donated to the reading corner of Sunshine Elderly Home; the Kindness Table offers free hot ginger-honey tea (one 100 ml cup per student) and one small red-bean tangyuan per student as a nod to the winter-solstice tradition of "reunion of the family around a round warm thing", with no photography allowed at the Kindness Table.

C. The Warm Word Wall is a competition scored by teachers.
D. Free takeaway coffee and pizza are served at the Kindness Table.

5. What is the main message of the closing word from Ms Qin and Mr Tao?

A. Calligraphy is a contest to see who writes the most beautiful character.
B. Calligraphy must only be done by adults.
C. The winter solstice is the shortest day of the year and for thousands of years ancestors marked it by gathering, writing, eating warm food and going to bed early; on the evening of 22 December, while most will simply walk home and sit under a warm electric light, the school invites students first, for one hundred quiet minutes, to stand before a small white page with a small black brush and write one careful word of their own for the winter to come — it does not have to be beautiful, only their own — because a single character, written slowly by a fourteen-year-old on the shortest afternoon of the year, carries a kind of silence that no screen in the world can quite replace.
D. Ms Qin and Mr Tao have cancelled the event.
