① Below is Lihua Middle School's 2028 New-Year Reading List, put together by six Grade-8 student volunteers after fifteen lunchtime meetings in November and December 2027. It recommends eight books in total — four in Chinese and four in English (including bilingual editions) — all chosen by students, for students, from the school's Green-Leaf Library and two nearby public libraries. The list is a gentle suggestion, not an assignment. No teacher will check if you read any of them. No parent is asked to sign anything. Any single book, read slowly, is already a small win. Please do not try to read all eight.

📚 Selection Rules (written by the student committee)

Rule	Detail
1	Students only choose books; no teachers, no parents, no publishers.
2	Age-appropriate: roughly 60%—70% of words already known to a Grade-8 middle-schooler.
3	Not from exam reading lists; free from any school-test connection.
4	At least one of the eight written by a Chinese author; at least one by a woman; at least one translated from another language.
5	No violence, no adult-only themes, no heavy sad endings; winter is cold enough.

6	Every book must be borrowable for free from Green-Leaf Library or the Longhua Public Library.

📖 The 4 Chinese Books (in the recommended reading order)

1. 《繁星》 Fan Xing (Stars) — by Bing Xin (冰心)

Field	Detail
Category	Short prose / gentle philosophical essays
Pages / Reading time	112 pages / roughly 3 hours total
Student comment (by Lin Ruoxi)	"One page, one small thought. Safe for tired winter evenings. Easy to put down and pick up again."
Why first	Sentences are short and gentle; a warm quiet start for the winter.
Green-Leaf Library code	BX-004 (shelf 2-F)

2. 《雾都孤儿》 Chinese simplified edition — adapted by 叶君健 (translator)

Field	Detail
Category	Classic narrative (abridged)
Pages / Reading time	248 pages / roughly 6 hours
Student comment (by Shen Kexin)	"You will feel angry, brave, sad, and finally, warm."
Why chosen	A kind orphan survives a cold city, just like us in winter.
Green-Leaf Library code	CL-118 (shelf 5-A)

3. 《呼兰河传》selected chapters — by 萧红 (Xiao Hong)

Field	Detail
Category	Northern childhood memoir
Pages / Reading time	90 pages (selected) / roughly 3 hours
Student comment (by Shi Yifan)	"Winter on an old northern river. So quiet you can hear snow on a window."
Why chosen	Meets Rule 4 (Chinese woman author); fits our winter mood.
Green-Leaf Library code	XH-032 (shelf 2-F)

4. 《城南旧事》 — by 林海音 (Lin Haiyin)

Field	Detail
Category	Child-narrator memoir, old Beijing
Pages / Reading time	176 pages / roughly 5 hours
Student comment (by Lin Ruoxi)	"A small girl, an old city, and slow snow. Warm and sad, but not too sad."
Why chosen	Perfect winter companion to 《呼兰河传》; rich everyday vocabulary.
Green-Leaf Library code	LHY-201 (shelf 5-B)

📖 The 4 English Books (in the recommended reading order)

5. Charlotte's Web — by E. B. White

Field	Detail
Category	Children's classic, animal friendship
Reading level	≈ 60% known vocabulary for Grade 8
Pages / Reading time	192 pages / roughly 8 hours total
Student comment (by Shen Kexin)	"A small spider teaches a small pig about kindness. No difficult words. Kind ending."
Why first (English)	Very gentle entry; many simple dialogues; good for reading aloud to Grandma.
Green-Leaf Library code	E-024 (shelf E-1)

6. The Little Prince (bilingual Chinese-English edition) — by Antoine de Saint-Exupéry (translated)

Field	Detail
Category	Philosophical short story
Reading level	≈ 65% known; bilingual pages help
Pages / Reading time	130 pages bilingual / roughly 5 hours
Student comment (by Shi Yifan)	"Read one chapter per night; think about it during Slow-Walk Hour."
Why chosen	Meets Rule 4 (translated from French); short chapters; slow questions.
Green-Leaf Library code	E-102 (shelf E-2)

7. Anne of Green Gables (Grade-8 abridged English edition) — by L. M. Montgomery

Field	Detail
Category	Canadian countryside, orphan girl, warm humour
Reading level	≈ 65% known; simplified vocabulary
Pages / Reading time	220 pages / roughly 9 hours
Student comment (by Lin Ruoxi)	"Anne talks too much — a lovable friend for any quiet girl this winter."
Why chosen	Meets Rule 4 (woman author); warm, safe, funny ending.
Green-Leaf Library code	E-178 (shelf E-2)

8. The Wind in the Willows (Grade-8 illustrated edition) — by Kenneth Grahame

Field	Detail
Category	Gentle river-bank adventure
Reading level	≈ 60% known; Grade-8 illustrated notes
Pages / Reading time	184 pages / roughly 7 hours
Student comment (by Shen Kexin)	"Rat, Mole, Badger, and Toad. Slow walks, hot buttered toast, kind rivers. Perfect for 22:00 reading."
Why chosen	Safe, warm, outdoor-feeling; calms the winter mind before sleep.
Green-Leaf Library code	E-243 (shelf E-3)

🕒 A Simple Reading Rhythm (optional)

Reading pattern	Description	Who it suits
A. One-Book 30-Day	Read only one book across the 30-day break, slowly, 15 min / day	Tired students; first-time long-readers
B. Two-Book Rotation	Read one Chinese + one English at the same time, 20 min each, alternate	Steady students; helps vocabulary both ways
C. Bedtime Chapter	Read one chapter every night before 22:00 only	Students with small phones near the bed
D. Listen-and-Read	Read with a free audio book played softly at 0.8× speed	Tired eyes; long-distance train journeys home

Recommended reading time: no more than 45 minutes at a stretch; look 300 m into the distance for 2 minutes between stretches.
Discouraged: reading more than 2 books at the same time; underlining with four different colours; writing long book reports nobody will read.

🏢 Borrowing and Returning Information

Item	Detail
Green-Leaf Library (inside school)	Open Mon—Fri 11:40—13:20 and 16:00—17:40 during term; closed during break
Longhua Public Library (West Gate No. 2)	Open 08:30—20:00 daily including holidays; Grade-8 students may borrow up to 5 books with school ID
Borrow period	21 days, renewable twice (max 63 days)
Book-swap corner	Corner of Main Hall foyer — students may leave a book they loved and take a book somebody else loved, one-for-one, no sign-up
Late fee	None for students; lost book → a handwritten apology note + one replacement copy is enough

🫶 Gentle Reading Rules from the Committee

#	Rule
1	A book can be put down. If you don't enjoy it after 30 pages, close it gently and choose another.
2	A book can be reread. Reading Charlotte's Web twice is not "less" than reading two books once.
3	A book's speed is personal. A book that takes 6 hours for one classmate may take 12 hours for another. Both are fine.
4	Do not rank your classmates by books finished. Reading is not a race.
5	No book quiz. If somebody asks you "what was chapter 4 about?", you may answer "I do not remember — I was reading for the feeling." That is a perfectly good answer.
6	Private reading stays private. If a student does not wish to tell classmates what she read this winter, her silence is fully respected.

💬 A Small Word from the Reading Sub-Committee

"Dear Grade-8 friends, this is a small list, written by six of us for all of you. We argued quietly for fifteen lunch breaks to choose these eight books. There are many more good books on Earth than will fit on one piece of paper, and every year somebody writes another one. If none of these eight fits your mood this winter, walk into a quiet library, pull a book off a low shelf, read the first page under a window, and if your hand does not want to put it down, take it home. That is, perhaps, the only book recommendation rule that truly matters. May your 2028 winter be slow, warm, and full of turning pages.

— Lin Ruoxi, on behalf of the Reading Sub-Committee, 27 December 2027"

根据通知内容，选择最佳答案。

1. What is the general purpose of this "2028 New-Year Reading List", and what is its nature?

A. It is a strict assignment that every Grade-8 student must finish before 16 February 2028.
B. It is a list assigned by the principal of Lihua Middle School with teacher enforcement.
C. It is Lihua Middle School's 2028 New-Year Reading List, put together by six Grade-8 student volunteers after fifteen lunchtime meetings in November and December 2027; it recommends eight books in total — four in Chinese and four in English (including bilingual editions) — all chosen by students, for students, from the school's Green-Leaf Library and two nearby public libraries, and published on the Student Union board on Sunday 27 December 2027; the list is a gentle suggestion, not an assignment, with no teacher checking and no parent sign-off, and any single book read slowly is already a small win — readers are asked not to try to read all eight.
D. It is a competition to see who can finish the most books by February.

2. According to the "Selection Rules" section, which of the following is TRUE?

A. All books were chosen by teachers and publishers to match exam reading lists.
B. Books are strictly adult-level with many violent and sad endings.
C. The student-written selection rules require: students only choose books with no teachers, no parents, no publishers; books are age-appropriate with roughly 60–70% words already known to a Grade-8 student; not from exam reading lists and free from any school-test connection; at least one of the eight written by a Chinese author, at least one by a woman, and at least one translated from another language; no violence, no adult-only themes, no heavy sad endings because winter is cold enough; and every book must be borrowable for free from Green-Leaf Library or the Longhua Public Library.
D. The books must be bought at a bookshop and returned after exams.

3. What information about Book 5 (Charlotte's Web) is TRUE?

A. It is a very difficult adult book with about 20% known vocabulary for Grade 8.
B. Charlotte's Web by E. B. White is a children's classic about animal friendship with roughly 60% known vocabulary for Grade 8, 192 pages and about 8 hours total reading time; student commenter Shen Kexin wrote "A small spider teaches a small pig about kindness. No difficult words. Kind ending."; it was chosen first in English because it is a very gentle entry with many simple dialogues and is good for reading aloud to Grandma; its Green-Leaf Library code is E-024 on shelf E-1.
C. It is a book of advanced poetry by Chinese author Lin Haiyin.
D. It has no animals in it and is strictly a history textbook.

4. According to the "Gentle Reading Rules", which statement is TRUE?

A. Students must finish every book even if they dislike it after 30 pages, and rereading is forbidden.
B. The gentle reading rules include: a book can be put down — if you don't enjoy it after 30 pages, close it gently and choose another; a book can be reread — reading Charlotte's Web twice is not "less" than reading two books once; a book's speed is personal, so a book that takes 6 hours for one classmate may take 12 for another, both fine; students must not rank classmates by books finished because reading is not a race; no book quiz, and if somebody asks "what was chapter 4 about?", you may answer "I do not remember — I was reading for the feeling" as a perfectly good answer; private reading stays private, and any student who does not wish to tell classmates what she read has her silence fully respected.
C. Students must compete publicly to see who reads the most books and rank each other by count.
D. Students must take a strict book quiz after every chapter.

5. What is the main message of Lin Ruoxi's closing word?

A. The committee insists on strict enforcement of all eight books.
B. The committee believes reading should be done only in the school library under teacher supervision.
C. The list is small, written by six of them for all Grade-8 friends, after fifteen lunch-break discussions; there are many more good books on Earth than fit on one piece of paper and every year somebody writes another; if none of the eight fits your mood this winter, walk into a quiet library, pull a book off a low shelf, read the first page under a window, and if your hand does not want to put it down, take it home — which is perhaps the only book recommendation rule that truly matters; may your 2028 winter be slow, warm, and full of turning pages.
D. The committee intends to remove the reading list entirely before February 2028.
