中考英语完形填空：校园菜园

完形填空原文

Our school started a vegetable garden project last spring. The headmaster said it would help us learn about nature and 1. Every class was given a small piece of land to grow vegetables.

At first, many students were not 2 in the project. We thought gardening was boring and dirty. But our science teacher, Mr Wang, was very patient. He showed us how to prepare the soil and plant seeds. He said, "Taking care of plants is like taking care of a friend. You need to give them water, sunlight, and 3."

My class decided to grow tomatoes. We dug the soil, planted the seeds, and watered them every day. For the first two weeks, 4 happened. We just saw brown soil. Some of my classmates started to lose hope. "Maybe we did something wrong," they said. But Mr Wang told us to be 5 and wait.

Then one morning, tiny green shoots appeared from the soil. We were so excited that we ran to tell the whole school. Over the next few weeks, the shoots grew into small plants with green leaves. We learned to pull out the weeds and 6 the plants from insects. It was hard work, but we enjoyed watching our tomatoes grow bigger each day.

Two months later, the tomatoes turned red. It was time to 7 them. We carefully picked every tomato and washed them clean. Our class had the most tomatoes among all the classes, and we felt very 8 of ourselves.

We used some tomatoes to make a salad for lunch. It was the most delicious salad I had ever 9. Maybe it was because we grew the tomatoes with our own hands.

The garden project taught us more than just gardening. It taught us patience, teamwork, and the joy of seeing the 10 of our hard work.
