中考英语完形填空：失物招领

完形填空原文

Last week, something happened that taught me the real meaning of honesty. I was walking to school when I noticed a wallet lying on the ground near the school gate. I picked it up and looked 1. There was quite a lot of money inside, along with an ID card and some bank cards.

For a moment, I did not know what to do. A voice in my head said, "Nobody saw you. You could just 2 the money." But another voice quickly said, "That's wrong. The person who lost it must be very worried." I knew the second voice was 3.

I looked at the ID card and saw the name "Li Ming" on it. I did not know anyone by that name. I decided to take the wallet to the school's lost-and-found 4. When I handed it to the teacher on duty, she praised me and said I did the right thing.

During the lunch break, a man came to the school. He looked anxious and 5. He told the gate guard that he had lost his wallet somewhere near the school that morning. The guard took him to the office, and the teacher 6 the wallet to him. The man opened it, checked everything, and his face was full of relief.

"Thank you so much! I've been looking for it all morning," he said. "My daughter's tuition money is in it. I was so 7 that I might have lost it forever." When the teacher told him that a student had found and returned it, the man wanted to give me some money as a 8. But I said no. "It was the right thing to do," I said.

The man shook my hand and thanked me again. After he left, my classmates said they were 9 of me. I felt happy, not because of any reward, but because I had made an honest 10. That feeling was worth more than any amount of money.
