中考英语完形填空：种花的收获

完形填空原文

This spring, my mum gave me a few sunflower seeds and said, "Why don't you try growing them? It might be a fun 1." I had never grown anything before, but I thought it would be interesting to try.

I found a large pot, filled it with soil, and planted the seeds about two centimetres deep. Then I watered them and put the pot on the balcony where there was plenty of 2. Mum told me to water them every morning but not too much, or the seeds would rot.

For the first week, I checked the pot every day, but there was no 3. I started to worry that I had done something wrong. "Maybe the seeds are bad," I said to Mum. She shook her head and said, "Just be patient. Plants have their own 4."

On the ninth day, I saw a tiny green shoot pushing through the soil. I was so 5 that I called everyone in the family to come and look. Over the following weeks, the shoot grew taller and taller. It grew new leaves almost every day. I was amazed at how 6 plants could grow.

By July, my sunflower was nearly as 7 as me! Its thick stem stood straight, and at the top, a large yellow flower opened up. It always turned to face the sun, which is why sunflowers got their 8. Every morning, I would sit beside it and read. It felt like having a quiet friend.

One day, a neighbour saw my sunflower and said, "What a beautiful plant! You must have taken very good 9 of it." I felt proud. Growing this sunflower taught me that small efforts every day can lead to wonderful 10. I plan to plant even more flowers next spring.
