中考英语完形填空：一次迷路经历

完形填空原文

Last month, I went to a new shopping center with my cousin. It was a very big place with many shops and restaurants. We walked around for a long time and had a lot of fun. But when we decided to go home, we could not find the way out.

We looked for the exit but everything seemed 1. Every corner looked the same. I started to feel worried. My cousin tried to stay calm and said, "Don't 2. We will find the way." But I could see that she was a bit nervous too.

We walked for another ten minutes but still could not find the exit. I suggested that we 3 someone for help. So we went up to a kind-looking lady and asked her the way. She smiled and pointed to a sign above us. "You need to go straight, then turn left at the second corner," she said.

We followed her directions and finally saw the main door. I felt so 4 that we were going to get out! But when we reached the door, we realized we had come in from the other side. Our bikes were still somewhere else. We had to ask another person for 5, and this time a security guard helped us find the parking area.

That day taught me an important lesson. When you are lost, the best thing to do is to ask for help. There is nothing 6 about admitting that you need assistance. Many people are willing to help if you just ask. I used to think that asking for help made me look weak, but now I understand that it is actually a sign of 7.

I also learned to pay more attention to my surroundings. Now when I go to a new place, I always look for landmarks or signs that can help me find my way back. It is a good habit to 8.

My cousin and I still laugh about that day sometimes. What started as a fun trip turned into a small adventure. We did not let the experience 9 us. Instead, we learned from it and became better at finding our way in unfamiliar places.

If you ever get lost, remember: stay calm, ask for help, and believe that you will find your way. Every 10 can teach you something useful.
