中考英语完形填空：和爷爷下象棋

完形填空原文

My grandfather loves playing Chinese chess. He has played it for more than sixty years. This summer, he offered to teach me. I had never played before, but I was 1 to learn.

Grandpa explained the rules slowly. Each piece moves in a different way. The "horse" moves in an L shape, and the "chariot" can move in a straight line. I tried to remember everything, but it was not easy. In our first game, I 2 in less than ten moves. Grandpa smiled and said, "That is normal. Everyone loses when they first learn."

I did not give up. I practiced with Grandpa every evening after dinner. At first, I only thought about my own moves. I wanted to attack quickly and 3 the game. But Grandpa taught me that chess is not about speed. "You must think about what your opponent will do next," he said. "Plan your moves carefully."

Slowly, I began to understand the game better. I learned to protect my important pieces and to 4 for chances. Sometimes the best move is to wait. Grandpa said that chess is like life — we need both courage and patience.

One afternoon, I finally won a game! I was so 5 that I could not believe it. Grandpa clapped his hands and said, "Well done! You are learning fast." I knew he had not played his best on purpose — he had let me win to encourage me. But I still felt proud.

Playing chess with Grandpa has become our special time together. We sit in the garden, drink tea, and talk while we play. He tells me stories about his youth and the lessons life has taught him. I have learned more from these 6 than from the chess itself.

Grandpa says that chess teaches us to think before we act. In life, we often have to make difficult 7. If we rush, we may make mistakes. But if we think carefully, we can find better solutions. I will remember this advice for the rest of my life.

I hope Grandpa and I can keep playing chess together for many years. Each game is a 8 to learn something new. And each moment with him is precious. Someday I want to teach my own children to play, just as Grandpa taught me.

If you have a grandparent or an older person in your family, try to spend time with them. They have so much 9 and love to share. You might be surprised by what you can learn from them. A game of chess, a walk in the park, or simply sitting and talking — these simple things can create 10 that last forever.
