中考英语完形填空：夜市小吃

完形填空原文

Every Friday evening in August, my family went to the night market near the river. It was one of my favourite 1 during the summer holiday. The market was always crowded and full of life.

As soon as we arrived, wonderful smells from the food stalls filled the air. My mother loved the grilled corn, and my father always went straight to the lamb skewer stand. My little sister and I 2 had the same thing — cotton candy and bubble tea. We each had our own favourites, and nobody could change our minds.

One evening, I decided to try something 3. I noticed a stall selling stinky tofu. I had always thought it smelled terrible and refused to eat it. But that night, the stall owner was very friendly. He offered me a small piece to taste for free. I hesitated, then took a 4 bite. To my surprise, the taste was actually delicious — crispy on the outside and soft inside. I immediately bought a full portion.

My sister laughed at me. "You said you would never eat that!" she said. I smiled and replied, "Well, sometimes you have to try things before you 5 them." That night, I learned an important lesson: do not judge things based only on first impressions.

The night market was not just about food. There were also games, crafts, and small shops selling accessories and clothing. My mother liked to look at the handmade earrings and bracelets. My father enjoyed watching the sugar painting artist, who could create beautiful animal 6 using melted sugar. It was like magic.

My favourite part was the small stage at the centre of the market. Local musicians and performers put on 7 there every weekend. One night, a group of teenagers performed a traditional drum dance. The rhythm was powerful and exciting. Everyone stopped to watch, and the crowd clapped along with the 8.

As the summer went on, the night market became a place full of warm memories. It was where our family relaxed, laughed, and enjoyed being 9. I hope the night market will still be there next summer. If it is, I will definitely go back — and this time, I might try something even more 10.
