中考英语完形填空：学做意大利面

完形填空原文

My mother loves Italian food. Last month, she suggested we learn to make spaghetti together. I had never cooked pasta before, so I was curious to 1.

We looked up a recipe online. It seemed simple: boil the pasta, make the sauce, and mix them together. We went to the supermarket and bought spaghetti, tomatoes, garlic, and some herbs. My mother said fresh ingredients were 2 for a good taste.

We started by boiling a large pot of water. When the water was bubbling, we added the spaghetti and a pinch of salt. The recipe said to cook it for about ten minutes. I kept checking the time, afraid of 3 it — too soft would be mushy, too hard would be difficult to chew. My mother taught me to throw a piece against the wall: if it sticks, it's ready. We laughed when I tried it and the pasta flew across the kitchen!

While the pasta was cooking, we made the tomato sauce. We chopped the tomatoes and garlic, heated some oil in a pan, and added them. The kitchen was soon filled with a wonderful 4. We added salt, pepper, and a little sugar. My mother said the sugar would balance the sourness of the tomatoes. I had never thought that cooking needed so much 5.

When the pasta was ready, we drained it and put it into the sauce. We mixed them gently and added some cheese on top. I could not wait to 6 it. We sat down at the table. The first bite was delicious! The pasta was just right — not too soft, not too hard. The sauce was rich and flavourful. My mother said, "Cooking together is more fun than cooking 7. And the food tastes better when we make it with love." I agreed completely.

That evening, I helped clear the table and wash the dishes. I realised that a good meal involved not just cooking but also cleaning up. Everyone in the family should 8 the work. My father said he would do the cooking next weekend and try a different dish. I look forward to learning more recipes. Cooking has become a new 9 for me. It is a practical skill that I will use for the rest of my life. And sharing a homemade meal with family is one of life's simple 10.
