中考英语完形填空：第一次独立购物

完形填空原文

Last Saturday, my mother asked me to go to the supermarket alone for the first time. She gave me a shopping list and two hundred yuan. "You are old enough to do this," she said. I felt both excited and a little 1.

The supermarket was about ten minutes' walk from our home. I had been there many times with my mother, but going alone felt different. I took a basket and started to look for the items on the list. The first thing was milk. I found the dairy section easily. But there were so many 2 — full-fat, low-fat, skim, and different brands. I did not know which to choose. I remembered my mother usually bought the one with a blue label. I found it and put two bottles in my basket.

Next was rice. The bags were heavy. I asked a staff member for help. She kindly showed me where the smaller bags were. I chose a five-kilogram bag that I could 3 home. For the vegetables, I picked fresh tomatoes and cucumbers. I had learned from my mother to check if they were firm and had no soft spots.

At the checkout, I placed my items on the conveyor belt. The cashier scanned them and said, "That will be 156 yuan." I took out my money and counted it carefully. I had just enough, with a little 4 left. I put the change in my wallet and packed the groceries into bags.

When I got home, my mother was pleased. She checked the items and said I had bought everything correctly. "You even chose the right milk!" she said. I felt a sense of 5. I had completed my first solo shopping trip successfully.

That experience taught me important life skills. I learned to compare prices and make 6. I also learned that it is okay to ask for help when needed. The staff at the supermarket were friendly and willing to assist. Most importantly, I learned to manage money. I did not spend on unnecessary things. I 7 to the list and came home with the right amount of change.

Now I often help with the shopping. Sometimes I go alone, and sometimes I go with my mother. Each time I become more 8. Shopping alone is a small step, but it is part of growing up. My mother says that learning to do things by myself will help me when I 9 home for university or work. I believe she is right. We all need to learn to be 10 and take care of ourselves.
