中考英语完形填空：新班主任

完形填空原文

When the new term started, we learned that we would have a new head teacher. Everyone was curious. Our old teacher, Mr. Li, had been with us for two years and we all 1 him. We wondered what the new teacher would be like.

On the first day, a young woman walked into our classroom. She wore a simple dress and carried a big bag of books. "Good morning, everyone. I'm Ms. Chen, your new head teacher," she said with a warm 2. Her voice was soft but clear.

Ms. Chen did something 3 on her first day. Instead of talking about rules, she asked each of us to write down three things we hoped to achieve this year. She collected our papers and read some of them aloud. "I want to improve my English," one student wrote. "I want to make more friends," wrote 4. Ms. Chen nodded and said, "I will do my best to help each of you reach your goals."

In the following weeks, we found that Ms. Chen was different from other teachers. She never shouted at us when we made mistakes. 5, she would patiently explain where we went wrong and how to do better. She also organised many interesting activities, such as English speech contests, science experiments and art exhibitions. These activities made our school life more 6.

One thing I admired most about Ms. Chen was her fairness. She treated every student 7, whether they were top students or struggled with their studies. She spent extra time helping those who fell behind. She often said, "Every student has potential. Sometimes they just need someone to 8 in them."

Gradually, our class changed. Students who used to be quiet began to raise their hands in class. Those who often argued learned to 9 with each other. Our test scores improved too. By the end of the first month, Ms. Chen had won the hearts of the whole class.

I am grateful to have Ms. Chen as our teacher. She taught me that a good teacher does not just teach knowledge — a good teacher inspires students to become 10 versions of themselves.
