中考英语完形填空：校园新规定

完形填空原文

This September, our school introduced several new rules. The headmaster announced them during the opening ceremony. Some students were excited, while others felt 1. I was one of those who needed time to get used to the changes.

The first new rule was about mobile phones. Students were no longer allowed to bring phones to school. If a phone was found, it would be kept by the teacher until parents came to 2 it. Many students complained about this rule. They said they needed phones to contact their parents. But the headmaster explained that phones were a major distraction in class. Students spent too much time on social media and games 3 of studying.

The second rule was about the school uniform. We now had to wear our uniforms every day, not just on Mondays. At first, I thought this was 4. I liked wearing my own clothes because they showed my personality. But later I realised that uniforms saved time in the morning. I no longer had to spend ten minutes deciding what to 5.

The third rule encouraged students to exercise more. Every class had to do a thirty-minute group exercise after the last lesson. We could choose from running, skipping rope or playing basketball. I chose basketball and found it was a great way to 6 after a long day of study. My body felt healthier, and I could sleep better at night.

The most popular new rule was about the library. It would now stay open until 8 p.m. on weekdays, giving students more time to read and study. The school also added hundreds of new books, including many popular science and story books. I was 7 because I loved reading.

After a few weeks, most students accepted the new rules. We found that they were not meant to 8 our freedom, but to help us develop good habits. The phone rule helped us focus in class. The uniform rule taught us simplicity. The exercise rule improved our 9. And the library rule gave us access to more knowledge.

I learned that change can be uncomfortable at first, but it often leads to 10. Sometimes the rules we dislike the most are the ones that help us the most.
