中考英语完形填空：教师节礼物

完形填空原文

Teachers' Day was coming, and our class wanted to do something special for our teachers. We had a class meeting to discuss 1. Many ideas were suggested — buying flowers, writing cards, or performing a song. After a long discussion, we decided to prepare a surprise party.

We formed a planning committee of five students. I was chosen to be the 2 because I was good at organising things. We had only three days to prepare, so we needed to work quickly and efficiently.

First, we decorated the classroom. We bought colourful balloons and paper ribbons. Two students with good handwriting wrote "Happy Teachers' Day" on the blackboard in beautiful 3. We also made a big poster with photos of our class activities throughout the year. Looking at the poster, I felt warm inside — it recorded so many precious 4.

Next, we prepared performances. Some students practised a song called "You Raise Me Up." Others wrote a short play about a teacher who changed a student's life. I helped write a class letter to our head teacher, thanking her for everything she had done. It was not easy to put our 5 into words, but we tried our best.

On Teachers' Day morning, we asked our head teacher to come to the classroom five minutes early. When she opened the door, we all shouted, " 6 Teachers' Day!" She stood at the door, completely surprised. Her eyes became red, and I could see she was trying not to cry.

The performances went smoothly. When we sang the song, several students had tears in their eyes. Our head teacher was deeply 7. After the play, she said, "This is the best gift I have ever received. It is not about the decorations or the performances — it is about your hearts."

She then shared a story about her first year as a teacher. She said she had almost 8 teaching because it was so difficult. But a student's thank-you note had given her the courage to continue. "That is why I always tell you — a kind word can change someone's 9," she said.

That Teachers' Day was unforgettable. We learned that the best gifts are not expensive — they come from 10. A sincere "thank you" means more than any amount of money.
