中考英语完形填空：社区义工服务

完形填空原文

On October 5th, our school organized a volunteer activity in the community. About thirty students 1 to join. I was one of them.

We were divided into three groups. One group helped clean the streets, another group visited elderly people who lived 2, and my group was in charge of organizing the community library.

The community library was in a small room on the first floor of a building. When we arrived, it was a mess. Books were piled up on the floor, and many shelves were 3. Dust covered everything. It was clear that nobody had taken care of this place for a long time.

We started working right away. First, we wiped the shelves and swept the floor. Then we sorted all the books by 4 — children's books, science books, history books, and novels. We also checked each book and removed the ones that were too old or 5.

After four hours of hard work, the library looked brand new. The books were neatly arranged on clean shelves. We even made colorful labels for each section so that people could 6 find what they wanted.

An old lady from the community came in and looked around. Her eyes lit up with 7. "Thank you so much!" she said. "I used to come here to read every day, but it became too messy. Now I can come back again." Her words made all our hard work feel 8.

On the way home, I talked with my classmates about the experience. We all agreed that 9 others was a meaningful way to spend our holiday. It didn't cost us any money, but it brought happiness to the community.

I decided to come back every weekend to help 10 the library. Small actions can make a community a better place for everyone.
